

SAUNTERINGS
From Where The West Begins.
By JOHN T. MEYERS.
For The Sea Coast Echo.

LAST week's issue did not carry this column. This was due to no fault of your San Antonio correspondent nor the editorial staff of your splendid newspaper. Our old friend Uncle Sam pulled the dirty work at the cross roads this time. In today's mail we received the evidence. The self addressed envelope furnished Saunterings by the Sea Coast Echo publisher was sent by mistake to St. Louis, Mo., instead of Bay St. Louis. Probably the mail handlers were day dreaming about vacation time. Anyway they are a loyal bunch of swell fellows, whose mistakes are far and few between, so we'll shake and forget the hasty things we said when we first learned of the mess up.

LAST week's coastal hurricane brought heat relief in the form of drenching rains that extended generally over south and southwest Texas. A 97-day drought was ended in San Antonio when torrential rains and high winds lashed the city. Slight property damage was reported, with no loss of life, although trees and high tension wires were blown down during the storm. Householders in some sections were without lights and telephone service until damaged wires were repaired.

RESIDENTS along the hurricane swept sections of the Texas coast reported a tidal wave 15 miles in length which rushed inland for 6 miles distance, sweeping destruction in its path. Approximately 5 minutes were required for the tidal wave to spend its force.

EVEN as warnings of the sudden hurricane heading for the Texas coast were being issued—The Red Cross was organizing its force of brave and faithful relief workers for immediate duty in the stricken area. Remember that next time your local Red Cross Organization solicits your membership subscription. One never knows when the unforeseen hand of disaster may strike, but there is consolation in knowing the Red Cross will be on the scene nobly fulfilling its mission of mercy to humanity in distress.

HERE'S one you'll have to get a lawyer friend to crack for you: Two farmers live across the road from each other. Both have barns about the same size, only farmer Jim's has a galvanized iron roof while Farmer John's barn is roofed with shingles. Along came the recent hurricane. John's roof was scattered hither and yon over the countryside, and, by Gosh, the wind lifted Farmer Jim's off bodily and set it smack on top of Farmer John's barn. Naturally, Farmer Jim figured his neighbor would return his roof, loaned without his permission by a freakish gust of wind. But, Farmer John took a fresh chaw of tobacco, and said "No," when Jim asked for his roof. John insisted the roof was his by an act of God. The case may be brought to court for settlement. What is your verdict?

GISTING through the Texas Post Office Guide the following were found listed: Big Lump, Board House, Dime Box, Friday, Frijoles, Gasoline, Goodnight, Gun-sight, Muleshoe, Pointblank, Bronco, Wink, Razor, Telephone, Wildhorse, Necessity and Rattle.

THE other night we heard a new song titled, "Pardon My Southern Accent," introduced during a popular program on the radio. It was a nice song, but why must singers and actors resort to an overdone dialect resembling negro plantation hands when portraying southern characters? Certainly only, ignorance on the part of producers and actors is the evil that prompts such an unpardonable insult to southern culture.

THIS is 'blood-red letter week' in the realms of Mars—god of war. Wednesday was the 20th anniversary of beginning of the World War. Today is the date Germany declared war on France. England declared war on Germany the following day. The year was 1914. Today eyes are again centered upon Europe's blood-stained horizon. Political unrest and age-old hatreds may flare into war at the slightest provocation.

Twenty years—a generation—has been born in these United States since the World War. May they profit by past experience and remain ever apart from treacherous Europe entanglements.

MARIE DRESSLER, grand old trouper, is gone. Death came early last Saturday, in California, ending a stage and screen career that remains ever an earthy tribute to this marvelous woman. Marie Dressler was one of our favorite actresses. There can never be another to take her place. "God bless you Marie, your place in heaven is well deserved."

'WOP' GLOVER IS NEW COACH AT ST. STANISLAUS COLLEGE FOR '34-'35 TERM

Replaces Coach Robert Downey—Promises Much For Local Institution—Four-Letter Man of Tulane—Enjoys Envious Record.

News of the appointment of Harry C. Glover, Jr., more affectionately known as "Wop" as coach of St. Stanislaus College for the coming season of 1934-'35, Monday of this week has been received locally with much interest and pleasure.

"Wop" who for the past two years has been assistant coach of the football team at John Carroll University, Cleveland, Ohio, and also coach of the varsity basketball team of the same college, is a "4-letter man" of Tulane University, New Orleans, having the distinction of being the second man to hold such an honor. Besides this honor he was an outstanding figure in all athletics of the noted institution during his school activities here.

As Wop expressed it to an Echo reporter, "he is glad to be back home among his friends and family and will do all in his power for the betterment of athletics and especially the football team of the local college."

Good luck to you, "Wop" in your new undertaking, you have the best wishes and good will of the entire community.

TENNIS TOURNAMENT TO BE HELD AT HOTEL MIRAMAR AT PASS

To Start Saturday August 11—Players from Several States to Participate

On Saturday August 11 the Hotel Miramar at Pass Christian, Miss., will hold their first annual Tournament with an array of tennis players from Louisiana, Mississippi, and elsewhere. This tournament should prove very interesting in view of the list of the excellent players entered.

The entries from New Orleans with such players as Bill Macassin, Bernie Shields, Val Wilson, Gordon Renaud, Bob Bougon, Ike Armstrong, Cally Lauve, Paul Goosman, and others should make this tournament one of the hottest ever seen on the Gulf Coast.

The Gulf Coast will also be well represented with such players as "Shots" Anderson, Ed Buffam, Dean Woleben, Norman Moran and others. The beautiful trophies offered are for permanent possession and will be on display at the Miramar Hotel Saturday morning.

Entries will be received at the Miramar Hotel, Pass Christian, Miss., up to 12 o'clock noon. Mr. Walter Read, manager of the Miramar Hotel will accept all entries up to this hour.

PUBLIC LIBRARY CONTINUALLY GROWS REPORTS LIBRARIAN

Meeting of Library Board Next Monday—More Books Donated

If "All things are in a state of growth or decay" one can safely say that the library is not decaying. It's shelves continue to fill, while its reading public grows even faster. There are now six hundred and thirty-three books to four hundred and eighty-four readers. Recently books have been given by Miss Laura O'Leary (nineteen of them!), Mrs. Roland Weston, Mrs. Ethel Sanford and young Emily Straughn, are among the splendid contributors to the magazine department is the National Geographic Magazine, given each month by Rev. R. E. Grubb. Mrs. David Griffith has promised another settee.

There will be meeting of the Library Board Monday at ten A. M.

BAY CITY SCHOOLS TO OPEN

September 10th—Organization and Classification September 7th.

The Bay St. Louis City Schools will open on September 7th at 9 A. M., for organization and classification of students. Regular work will begin on Monday, September 10th. The prospects for next year are for the largest enrollment in the history of the school and a very successful year is anticipated, stated City Superintendent S. J. Ingram.

Following is a list of the new members of the school faculty: Mr. S. A. Clark comes to the Bay St. Louis High School as a graduate of the State Teachers College where he served as an assistant coach and has been coach and teacher in Kiln Vocational School for the past two years. Mr. Clark is at the University of Alabama this summer doing advanced work.

Miss Betty Blanks comes here from Philadelphia High School where she has been teaching Home Economics and Science for the past three sessions. She was very highly indorsed by the State Supervisor of Home Economics under whose direction she did her work before coming here. Miss Blanks' home is in Meridian, Miss.

Miss Lilian Chapman is a graduate of State Teachers College at Hattiesburg, also having completed a course in Commercial Education. She has been head of the Commercial Department in the high school at Sumrall, Miss., for the past three years. Her home is in Coffeeville, Miss.

Miss Ethel Sylvester comes to Bay St. Louis system of schools and will be Principal of the Webb School after having a number of years of successful teaching experience in some of the best schools of Hancock county.

The addition of the above will greatly to the already efficient staff of our local schools and much is in promise for the ensuing session.

Lemon Party For Saturday Night To Be Unusual Entertainment

There has been all kinds of parties chronicled of late, but a "lemon party" is the latest. This party will be held Saturday night, August 11th, at the home of Mrs. Eugene Davis, 314 Carroll avenue, at 8:30 P. M. The admission will be a "lemon" and the owner of same will be charged one cent for each seed found in the lemon.

FIRST PRIMARY IN MISSISSIPPI ELECTIONS COMES AUGUST 28.

Senator, Congressmen and Judges to be Nominated Next Month

Mississippians are never happier than when going to the polls to vote. So, on August 28 and September 18 they have the pleasure of selecting a U. S. Senator from Herbert D. Stephens, present incumbent, or Congressman Ross Collins, Ex-Governor Theo. G. Bilbo, or Hon. Frank Harper, a state Senator from Hattiesburg. Seven Congressmen are also to be nominated. All of the present solons have worthy opponents in each district except Mr. Will Whittington, of Greenwood, in the 3rd Chancellors and Circuit and County Judges are to be selected. In Yazoo county Hn. C. D. Williams has no opposition for County Judge, so acceptable and just have been his past administrations. In case of run-offs, the second primary election will come on Sept. 18. Chancellor M. B. Montgomery has no opposition either, for the reason of his excellent administration.

All state and county officers are to be elected in August, 1935.

CITY AUTHORITIES INSTALL TELEPHONE HEAD OF MAIN STREET

For Convenience of Public In Securing Police at Night

In order to benefit the public to a greater degree the city authorities have had installed a telephone at the head of main street, next to the Gem Cafe, on the sidewalk, for the purpose of locating a policeman either day or night more conveniently.

Anyone needing an officer, need only ask the operator for "Police Station"—day or night and they will be connected with the above phone, thus locating a policeman at any time. This phone is not for "fire calls," said City Commissioner Grady Perkins, but for the use of those desiring police help.

This added police protection will be of inestimable value to the public and was created mostly by the inability to locate an officer when needed.

BABY BORN

A very precious little lady was left by Mr. Stork at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tim Welch. Little Miss Mary Ann was born Friday, August 3rd, about 3:20 A. M. and weighed 7 1/2 pounds. Mrs. Welch was before her marriage, Miss Edith Ansley.

WAVELAND RESIDENT CLAIMS HE WAS NOT ALLOWED TO REGISTER

Judge White Takes Case Under Advisement Until First Part of Sept.

Reverberations of a tense political contest for municipal offices at Waveland, Hancock county municipality were heard at Gulfport Saturday when Circuit Judge Walter A. White heard argument of counsel on a man damous petition brought by E. J. Bourgeois of Waveland against Agnes Bourgeois, city registrar, to compel her to permit him to register for voting in the approaching municipal election in December.

Bourgeois, who brought his mandamus petition in the name of R. C. Cowan, district attorney, maintains that he is qualified in all respects to register and vote, avers that the respondent refused to permit him to register on the municipal registration lists. He is duly registered, he avers on the Hancock registration books.

The respondent sought in a plea of abatement to forestall a hearing on the petition and declared that she had resigned yesterday as a registrar of voters at Waveland. R. L. Genin, counsel for respondent, maintained that the mandamus petition could not be considered due to her resignation and declared that a successor had not been appointed and that there was no registrar at this time.

Emile Gex, counsel for the petitioner, contended that the resignation of the respondent was a nullity and that she must continue to serve until a successor had been appointed and had qualified.

After hearing the extended argument, Judge White announced that he would take the case under advisement and render his decision some time in the early part of September, in ample time for the Waveland municipal elections in December, 1934.

OUTBOARD REGATTA AUGUST 26

Event Fostered By Bay-Waveland Business Firms Promises to Be Outstanding Affair of Season

Members of the Bay-Waveland business community are sponsoring an outboard motor boat regatta of unusual extent and interest, especially since boatmen and other lovers of the sport of three states are actively interested as future participants. The date is Sunday, August 26th. Mississippi, Louisiana and Texas (that portion of Houston) are vitally interested. Florida may also send entrants.

Appropriate prizes such as love-cups will be given and the boatmen will have a great deal in common to interest them on this occasion.

Money donations for the regatta expenses will be well worth the investment and will identify the personal of the business community.

Charles A. Breath, Sr., will be in charge.

Benefit Card Party For Catholic Church August 29, at 2 P. M.

Public is invited to attend a card party to take place on Wednesday, August 29, 2 o'clock P. M., at St. Stanislaus College Gym, benefit debt fund church of Our Lady of the Gulf. Mrs. G. Y. Blaize is chairlady of the affair, which already promises to prove one of unusual success.

Honorable Ross A. Collins Candidate for Senator from Mississippi to Speak

BRO. WILLIAM, PRESIDENT STANISLAUS COLLEGE, RETURNED FOR YEAR 34-'35

Assignment Promulgated Last Friday Morning Following Annual Retreat of Brothers of Order of Sacred Heart—At St. Stanislaus College.

EPISCOPAL GUILD TO SPONSOR BAZAAR AUGUST 23 AND 24.

Numerous Articles to be Displayed—Sale to Last Two Days

There is something about a bazaar that brings back the fleeting wonder of childhood—the gay crepe paper, the outspread fancy-work, the glory of the cake table—everybody's mama's behind counters, and yourself with lots of nickels to spend. Or perhaps your feeling for bazaars goes back to a childhood poem by Robert Louis Stevenson, describing the wonders of the East: "Where the rich goods from near and far Hang for sale in the Bazaar."

The Episcopal Guild will have lots of "rich goods" from near (if not from far) on sale at its bazaar to be held on the twenty-second and the twenty-third days of August in the front part of the Gem Cafe, which space, Mrs.

ing for the purpose, the ladies of the Guild have put much time and delicate handiwork into the articles to be sold, which include hand-crocheted luncheon sets, tot's sunsuits, linen purses, dainty maid's aprons, and so on. Don't forget—there'll be lots of cake too.

KILN VOCATIONAL HIGH SCHOOL TO OPEN SEPTEMBER 13

L. Z. Seal, Superintendent—A. S. McQueen to Attend Opening.

L. Z. Seal, superintendent of the Kiln Vocational High School, announces the opening date as Monday August 13. Classification of pupils will begin at nine o'clock. At ten-thirty o'clock the opening exercises will begin. Mr. A. S. McQueen, Superintendent of Education, will discuss the outlook of the schools for the 1934-'35 session. The opening address will be given by Mr. J. F. Stuart, President of Pearl River College, Poplarville, Miss. Mr. C. C. Barefoot, Head of the Education Department, P. R. C. will also address the assembly.

All patrons are urged to be present.

ORPHANS VISIT BAY ON OUTING

New Orleans Council No. 714 Knights of Columbus Host to Children

Over 500 orphan children of the city of New Orleans were given a day's outing and picnic Sunday at Bay St. Louis through the kindness of the New Orleans Council No. 714 Knights of Columbus. This has become an annual event with the council and again in the past preparations assured a fine day of delightful pleasure for the children.

Arriving at the L. & N. depot about 9:45 o'clock, the party headed by the Bay St. Louis Municipal Band marched to St. Stanislaus college grounds, headquarters for the day. In the parade also was a band from New Orleans. Throughout the day music was dispensed by the bands and many Coast friends greeted the New Orleans visitors.

Lunch was served at noon and during the day cold drinks and more "eats" were served to the children. Bathing, boating, games on the grounds and on the beach were the diversions of the day.

Again the group of hosts were headed by C. A. Ahern, grand knight. Ed Haggerty and Wm. S. Daly, chairman.

The children returned to New Orleans at 5 o'clock, tired, worn-out, but with hearts full of happiness, and memories never to be forgotten.

Brothers of the Order of the Sacred Heart were dismissed Friday morning at 9 o'clock for a solid week of annual retreat, spent at St. Stanislaus College.

There were representatives from all houses of the order and the retreat was largely attended. The Brothers were delighted with "the break" in the torrid weather they received during last week with much rain and cloudiness to cool the atmosphere.

It will be noticed from the list of assignments that Bro. William, local president the past two years, is returned to St. Stanislaus for, at least, another year. This will be good news to the Bay St. Louis community who hold Bro. William in high regard and co-operate with him on every and all occasions.

Bro. Peter, well known over the South and elsewhere, is reassigned to Baton Rouge as president, where he has scored a signal success in his work, as usual.

Bro. Andrew, well known locally for his work at Stanislaus free day school in Bay St. Louis, is returned to St. Aloysius, New Orleans, where he teaches the sixth grades.

Herewith is a complete list from the official record of assignments for the year 1934-'35, to take effect immediately:

WAR IN EUROPE

NOBODY can foretell the possible course of events in Austria. For that reason it is difficult to gauge the probability of European war as a result of the clash between the Fascists and Nazis in Austria and now the death of President von Hindenburg.

The danger to European peace was not in the disorder in Austria. No other nation would go to war to save Austria from anarchy, except it involved a change in the status quo of Europe. Unfortunately, the civil strife in Austria involved the very danger for if the Nazi's obtained control they would favor unification with Germany. This several powers in Europe would use force to prevent at the present time.

Italy, under Mussolini, rushed 48,000 soldiers to the border. One wondered whether or not the Dictator would try to snatch some little plan out of the turmoil for home prestige. Up to this time, however, Italy has made no further aggressive move and has in its public utterances only gone so far as to justify the expectation that force would be used to prevent the absorption of Austria into the German Republic. In opposing this event Mussolini would have the support of France and Great Britain, even to the extent of armed forces, if needed.

South of Austria another state watched the international situation anxiously. Jugo-Slavia and Italy are rivals for dominance in the Balkans. The Little Entente, consisting of Jugo-Slavia, Rumania, and Czechoslovakia, generally moves in accordance with French policy and in opposition to Italian plans to dominate the Near East. If Italy invaded Austria danger of a spreading warfare would result inasmuch as Jugo-Slavia would probably push her soldiers northward.

TALK WON'T STOP WAR

THE ECHO is thoroughly in accord with those who insist that civilized nations should abolish war but it has little patience with assertions that millions of people will prevent another war.

Recently, Viscount Mailham, Secretary of State for War in Great Britain, declared that millions of those who fought in the last war are determined "not to see such a horror break out again" and that "no nation would have the temerity to challenge the opinion of the civilized world."

The eminent gentleman is talking "bunk." As a matter of fact, if the government of any leading country becomes embroiled in war, the people of the nation will fight. While some strong-willed minority may demur and attempt to prevent hostilities, they will be overwhelmed by nationalistic jingoism and the war will be on.

As regards the temerity of one nation in challenging the opinion of the world, one has merely to recall the Japanese invasion of Manchuria and China. While world opinion has tremendous weight, and carries considerable force, it is not enough to maintain peace or to prevent arbitrary action by powers who feel strong enough to do as they please. The mobilization of world opinion is all right, but unless it is backed by a mobilization of ships and men, it will not prevent transgressors among the nations of the world.

COURT ACTS TO RELIEVE CRIPPLE

A JUDGE in Pennsylvania has ordered a surgical operation on a sixteen year old boy over the protest of his father who believes in faith healing. The boy is a cripple because his leg, broken two years ago, was allowed to stiffen and doctors tell the Court that an operation would regain normal functions within three weeks.

The father takes the attitude, often taken in the past and occasionally in the present, that any act done to relieve the suffering of his son, will be against nature and "a defiance of God." The same cry has been raised through the ages against practically every scientific advance, whether made in the field of medicine or in the other avenues of human progress. It is the exhibition of a faith that is more ignorant than devout.

There are always, in every community, persons who cling to old customs and invoke their own religious superstitions to maintain them. Wrapped up, as they are, in a cloak of ignorance and unable to see ahead, they fear the unknown and shrink from the acceptance of modern revelations.

Nothing is as positive as the assertions of the ignoramus.

1,000 PLANES NEEDED

A GROUP of eleven prominent civilians and generals, headed by former Secretary of War Newton D. Baker, has just completed a three months investigation of the condition of the Air Corps. The public should be able to accept their findings with some degree of confidence, and, certainly, the conclusions reached by this group of citizens are entitled to serious consideration.

In the first place, the committee warned that in the event of any war the first contacts between the opposing forces would take place in the air. "The next great war," the report said, "is likely to begin with engagement between opposing air craft, either sea-based or land-based, and early aerial supremacy is quite likely to be an important factor. An adequate air-craft industry is essential to naval defense. The army's air forces must be ready at all times for war service."

The transportation of the mail by the army's planes during the emergency brought about by the cancellation of private contracts was not discussed except to point out that the experience was valuable in discovering defects in equipment, lack of training, instruments and facilities for efficient operation. The blame for much of this must rest upon the Congress which has not provided sufficient funds to properly equip the air service. The committee recommends the immediate acquisition of 1,000 new planes, chiefly fighting types, so that the army will have a peace-time minimum of 2,320 planes.

There has been a lot of discussion about the advisability of a unified air service; that is, the abolition of separate army and navy air forces and the maintenance of only one aerial organization. This committee unhesitatingly opposes any such unified air service, and declares that the present organization, based on separate air services for the army and navy, has given the United States high efficiency in this branch of national defense, therefore, it would be retained by all means. The purposes of air craft connected with the army are quite different from those connected with the navy and the committee's conclusion is in all probability entirely correct.

MOURNING MARIE DRESSLER

THE death of Marie Dressler, at Santa Barbara, California closed a remarkable life and removed from the screen its outstanding performer.

Miss Dressler, enjoying in her closing years a world-wide popularity and the acclaim of her new profession, knew the downs in life as well as its ups. In 1916, when forty-three years old, she retired from the stage somewhat involuntarily after earning more than $2,000 a week and becoming the favorite of American and English audiences. For fourteen years she was practically out, awaiting an opportunity that seemed reluctant to appear. Finally, a small part in a film gave her entrance into the movies and a few years later she was a star.

Miss Dressler's success should be inspiring to other women who cannot gamble on their good looks. She described herself once as an "ugly duckling" but capitalized upon her talents. Her courage in facing facts and her confidence in her ability carried her to the top for the second time after misfortune seemed to have thrown her aside.

The extent of her recent success may be gauged by the fact that two years ago, after being adjudged the best screen actress for the second successive year, she refused vaudeville offers at $10,000 a week, saying, "I am content."

It is interesting to The Echo to learn when she went on the stage, her mother, realizing that her education needed completion, made her promise that each morning she would buy the best newspaper in any town where she happened to be and read it thoroughly so that she would have something to say when she met people.

To her credit is the testimony of those associated with her in her work. Without exception they testify to her spirit of helpfulness and sincere desire to be friend and an ability to meet high and low upon the same friendly basis.

DISCOVER LONG LOST PEOPLE

FLYING over the southern part of New Guinea, where they expected to find only swamps and inhospitable jungles, Australian airmen were amazed to discover a grass-covered plateau, with rivers meandering through green valleys.

More surprising they saw gardens laid out in symmetrical patterns, with sweet potatoes, sugar cane, bananas and beans growing, although in the rest of New Guinea the natives know practically nothing of tilling the soil. Some fragment of the human race, cut off by high mountains for centuries, has developed its own existence upon the ruins of an earlier civilization, which present-day natives do not understand.

The amazing revelation was made by E. W. P. Chinnery, Australian anthropologist, who says that the discovery of the unknown region has filled a blank spot on the map of nearly 5,000 square miles. Scientists will be keenly interested in a study of the new tribes and their development and even casual students of Hancock county will speculate upon the possibility of other undiscovered peoples in other unknown areas.

ENCOURAGING

FEDERAL banking statistics give us new cause for optimism as they point out that bank deposits are rising once more after falling from an all-time high record of $55,000,000,000 in 1929 to $38,000,000,000 at the time of the 1933 banking holiday.

While the increase is only two billions, it is at least an indication that the tide has turned and that change is in the right direction.

Most of us make life a hard struggle by trying to dodge our ordinary responsibilities and let somebody else have the job.

August is the month in which many editors prefer to receive checks but they feel this way only 365 days out of the year.

MERELY THEORETICAL

By GEORGE E. SCHILLING

SHOOTING 'EM UP.

THE epidemic of strikes that has been afflicting this country, notably on the Pacific Coast and in Minneapolis is more interesting than intelligible. It can be, and is, interpreted in various ways. It may be studied as a social, or as a political, as well as an economic phenomenon. Whatever it means, this column maintains that shooting strikers is a very unsatisfactory method of handling the situation, although it costs nothing except to the taxpayers, and does produce results temporarily favorable to the employers. A small military force, can handle many times its number of un disciplined men. But killing off the strikers makes the others more angry than they were before, and causes some dissatisfaction even to the other people.

What can be done about strikers, besides shooting the strikers, or gassing them and putting them in jail? Not much, it seems, after the strike has developed. One has to maintain order and respect the rights and the freedom of business, so all you can do is to kill and wound enough of the disorderly element to protect public order and support the employers. Of course you can talk yourself hoarse, trying to induce them to make concessions, but if they thumb their noses at you then you have to respect their attitude. You cannot coerce them, because coercion would be a violation of freedom. You have to put the strikers in jail instead.

To the non-legal mind it would seem that an arbitration board with a little real authority might be highly useful in such a situation as that in San Francisco, a board with the intestinal fortitude, backed by the power, to put both sides in jail if necessary to persuade them to talk things over as calmly as they excited feelings would permit. Furthermore the board might be authorized to make both sides accept its decision, whether they were entirely satisfied or not.

Most strikes can be avoided by a display of fairness and goodwill before they happen. In our opinion the heaviest of this burden rests upon the employer, under the old rule that unto whom much is given, of him shall much be required." The employer is not only far stronger in his economic and legal position, but he is also usually much more intelligent, far-sighted and competent. If not, he is supposed to be and ought to be, such men as George A. Sloan, of the Cotton Textile Institute, who are interested in the welfare of employers, distributors, employees, consumers and mill stockholders and believe that all of these must be considered in working out a mill policy will not often need to use tear gas, machine guns and bayonets.

Unfortunately there is a class of employers, rough, two-fisted men, who hate labor unions as much as Gandhi and De Vaux hate Britain. They get so excited that they almost foam at the mouth. (You should see some of their confidential writings.) We shall hardly have satisfactory settlements until such men, or their stockholders and directors, are convinced that their attitude is very unprofitable both to themselves and to their companies.

Of course the labor unions are very seldom models of calm, even-handed justice and noble generosity, either. It is hardly to be expected that a lot of husky freight-handlers, for instance, should display both first-rate ability and the highest type of character. In fact such men are often very unreasonable indeed, especially when they lose their tempers. Our point is that when you pay a man fifty thousand dollars a year to manage such a gang he ought to be able to find some way to manage them other than shooting them.

The strike, as Stuart Chase points out, is obsolete in a surplus economy. It is a futile protest against the iron law of wages, for there are too many potential strike-breakers at hand. Economic law says that wages must go down until the worker is barely able to keep alive on his earnings, and the strike, at best, can only delay the process. Morally the workman ought to suffer quietly and peacefully. They used to preach a good many sermons on that theme in England, under similar conditions. If he is not quiet and peaceful then you have to shoot him.

Economically the wage-earner is very weak, but as this column has already pointed out, he is very numerous, and that makes a difference politically. The writer probably knows less about politics than any other voter in Hancock county, but, if he were interested in elections, he would hesitate to support half a dozen employers and their wealthy friends against several thousand workmen and their families. He is willing to venture another guess, writing before any official pronouncement has been made. The president of the United States, who knows as much about politics as anybody anywhere, probably appreciates this point of view. The "New Deal" was not supposed to favor shooting anybody. What killing and wounding has been done to date has all been by state forces.

What has become of the old-fashioned banker who used to make an occasional loan on the strength of the borrower's reputation in the neighborhood?

immediately, at its July, 1934 meeting proceeded to equalize the said rolls, and has completed such equalization at least ten days before its August, 1935, meeting; that said Tax Assessor attended the July, 1934 meeting of this Board of Supervisors, while it was considering said assessments of persons and property, from day to day, and that he rendered all assistance which his knowledge and information enabled him to give; and that at the July, 1934 meeting, this Board of Supervisors did then and there cause to be assessed all persons and things, and caused to be correctly valued all things found to be under-valued; that this Board carefully examined the land roll and saw that it embraced all the land in said county and that it represented said land as being the property of individuals, or the State or the United States according to the fact; that it was taxable or not taxable according to law; and that all such property is correctly described so as to be identified with certainty; that there are not double assessments; that all land improperly omitted from the real property rolls has been added thereto by this Board of Supervisors or under its direction; that all land incorrectly added insufficiently described has been properly described; that all land which was not classed correctly or was undervalued has been classed and valued properly; that all corrections have been made in said rolls; and that all things required by law have been done.

It is, therefore, ordered by the Board of Supervisors of said county, that said assessment rolls, and the assessment therein contained, be, and they are, hereby approved, with corrections, subject to the right of parties in interest to be heard on all objections hereafter made by them.

It is further ordered by this Board of Supervisors that a notice be posted at the Courthouse in said county and be published in the Sea Coast Echo, a newspaper published at Bay St. Louis, Mississippi, notifying the public and the taxpayers of said county, in the following form:

1. That said assessment rolls so equalized are ready for inspection and examination, and

2. This Board will be in session for the purpose of hearing objections to the said assessments which may be filed, at the Courthouse in the City of Bay St. Louis, said county and State, on the 6th day of August, 1934; and

3. This Board of Supervisors will remain in session from day to day until all objections, lawfully filed, shall have been disposed of and all proper corrections made in the rolls.

It is further ordered by the Board that the notice shall be given to the public and to the taxpayers of said county, in the following form:

PUBLIC NOTICE

TO THE PUBLIC AND TO THE TAXPAYERS OF HANCOCK COUNTY, MISSISSIPPI.

"You are hereby notified that the personal property assessment roll of the above named county, for the year 1934, and the real property assessment roll of the above named county for the years 1934 and 1935, have been equalized according to law, and that said rolls are ready for inspection and examination, and that any objections to said rolls, or any assessment therein contained shall be made in writing and filed with the clerk of Board of Supervisors of said county, on or before the first Monday of August, 1934, at his office in the Courthouse of said county, and

EDDIE Cantor's newest picture, "Kid Millions," is underway. Sam Goldwyn using his usual lavish settings and as a feature in the picture there will be the revival and filming of Irving Berlin's "Mandy" number, which was an important part of the Ziegfeld "Follies" in 1919. Ann Southern, Ethel Merman and George Murphy are in the cast.

Three pictures which went before the cameras last week at the Fox studios were "The State versus Elliott Norton," with Claire Trevor, Gilbert Roland, Norman Foster and Hugh Williams; "Music in the Air," with Gloria Swanson, John Boles, Douglas Montgomery, and Al Shean, and "365 Nights in Hollywood," with James Dunn and Alice Faye.

Warner Brothers' version of the Broadway comedy, "Big Hearted Herbert," featuring Guy Kibbee and Aline MacMahon has been completed. This same combination of players will be used in the studio's version of "Robbitt," Sinclair Lewis' novel.

Irvin S. Cobb's suggested new title for Mae West's much talked of and condemned latest film, "It Ain't No Sin," was "Yes, It Is," and he was probably about right at that. The picture will be released however, under the title, "The Bell of the Nineties."

Shirley Temple, Fox's newest juvenile find, has had her contract difficulties settled and is reputed to have received a voluntary pay increase to $1,250 a week with $100 a week being paid her mother for looking after her. It does seem that the little star could shine on that a little, doesn't it?

Paramount's newest contribution to the purity campaign is "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch." Some believe that this picture is a little "too strappy" even for those who want clean and wholesome films, declaring that "Little Women" was a robust and rowdy yarn by comparison.

MGM has completed the necessary retakes of Jean Harlow's latest, "The Girl from Missouri," and it is about ready for release.

According to news emanating from Hollywood, the picture-goers are to be deluged with action pictures with a Western flavor, with several of the studios reviving their "horse opera" units.

Paramount's first 1934-35 outdoor romance, "Wagon Wheels," went before the cameras last week. Among the players already signed were Monte Blue, Raymond Hatton, Leila Bennett, James A. Marcus, J. P. McGowan and Jane Dugan.

Among the pictures Metro has ready for release in August are: "The Girl from Missouri," mentioned above; "Student Tour," with Jimmy Durante and Charles Butterworth; "Treasure Island," with Wallace Beery and Jackie Cooper; "Straight Is The Way," with Francis T. and "Chained," with Joan Crawford and Clark Gable.

The news of the death of Marie Dressler, beloved by picture-goers and picture players alike, was received with deep regret all over this country. Seldom has there been an actress so universally loved and admired for her own qualities as well as her histrionic abilities, as the screen's greatest woman comedian of the screen.

Before condemning a writer's work because it is not original, think how much worse it would be if it were.

SYLVIA SIDNEY ENACTS DUAL ROLE IN COMEDY, 'THIRTY-DAY PRINCESS'

In Latest Paramount Film—
At A. & G. Theater,
Sunday and Monday

Sylvia Sidney makes her latest appearance for Paramount in the romantic comedy of "Thirty-Day Princess," adapted from Clarence Budington Kelland's famous magazine novel, which comes on Sunday and Monday to the A. & G. Theater. Cary Grant is featured, and the supporting cast includes Edward Arnold, Vince Barnett, Lucien Littlefield, Henry Stephenson and Edgar Norton.

The film, produced by B. P. Schulberg and directed by Marion Gering, is a comedy of events that occur when an American girl is called upon to enact the role of a European princess who has fallen ill, and she may impress America and secure a big bankers' loan for the princess' country.

The screen play is by Preston Sturges, noted Broadway playwright, and Frank Partos. Adaptation and dialog are by Sam Hellman and Edwin Justus Mayer.

The picture tells of Gresham, big international banker, who visits the little country, sees a big opportunity for floating a loan in the American market. The moment he gets a glimpse of the princess Caterina, nicknamed "Zizzi," he knows the loan is sure to go over if the Princess will come to America on a good-will tour to impress America.

With Gresham, she arrives in New York. The press is enthusiastic, with the exception of one newspaper, owned by Porter Madison who sees through Gresham's scheme, decides to expose it in his publication.

To add to Gresham's troubles, the princess falls ill—and in order to put over the loan, he decides to seek a double. Detectives are told that the princess has disappeared and set out to find her.

They bring in Nancy Lane, a struggling actress, who jumps at the chance to earn some money. So capable does she play the role, that everyone is fooled. Even the publisher is intrigued by her charm, falls completely in love with her.

But Nancy Lane faces the problem of telling Madison the truth at the end of the thirty-day period. How the two young people work out their romantic problem, furnishes an entirely new ending to a charming comedy.

The darkest hour in any man's life is when he sits down to plan how to get money without earning it.

A Worthy Example

That a farmer has avenues open through which he may make money equal to that made by men in any other calling has been demonstrated by John A. Johnson, of Hartford.

Eight months ago he purchased 46 head of Hereford cattle and placed them on his farm in Johnson community. Last week he shipped them to the Butchers' Dressed Meat Company, New York City. The cattle averaged 1200 pounds, a gain of over 500 pounds in the eight months period. They brought more than $100 per head and after deducting the cost of feed, work, freight and all other expenses net Mr. Johnson a profit that most any professional man in Ohio county would consider a good year's salary under present conditions.—Ohio County News, Hartford, Ky.

What Type Officials?

Every once in a while, and possibly twice in a while, we have something to say in this column about the lack of public interest in selecting our governing officials. Voters who have this whole problem in their own hands unjustly find fault, when they themselves are to blame, if they do not secure service from men who govern them.

In an address, recently delivered at the commencement exercises at Hamilton College, New York, Governor Lehman said: "By and by, people are going to get just the kind of government they want and deserve. If public officials feel there is a wide circle of people interested in their work, critical of results and ready to praise and reward faithful services or condemn inefficiency and dishonesty, they are going to render good service. Conversely, indifference or ignorance on the part of the public will, almost inevitably, lead to service that is indifferent if not worse."

He certainly put his finger right on the spot. There truly is this lack of indifference and no one wants to exert himself or herself unduly, consequently, right after a primary or a general election voters do a lot of faint-finding in assessing the work of their officials, but there is no sustained effort for the betterment. However, the public is always long in its criticism and fault-finding, but rarely does one hear a word of praise. The Governor knows that the people speak.—Journal, Albany, N. Y.

THE ECHO'S COOKING CLASS

SUMMER brings a wealth of vegetables of which the house-keeper should take advantage by picking the surplus. Pickles are an aid to digestion, in addition to which they serve as a spicy flavoring. These recipes are not difficult to make, try them.

Pepper Hash

2 dozen red bell peppers
1 quart vinegar
3 cups sugar
6 onions
1 teaspoon salt
Remove the white fibre and the seed from the peppers. Peel the onions. Chop finely, pour oiling water over them. Let stand five minutes, drain. Cook together the vinegar, sugar and salt; add peppers and onions. Boil up once. Put in sterilized jars and seal closely.

Cucumber Relish

1 quart cucumbers sliced thin
2 large onions
1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon mustard
1 teaspoon powdered torradish.
Sprinkle sliced cucumbers with salt. Let stand 3 hours. Drain. Cut onions and pepper fine and add to the cucumbers and spices. Cover the whole with vinegar, being carefully described as follows: to-wit: 1. One certain tract or parcel of land situated in the First Ward of the City of Bay St. Louis, County of Hancock, State of Mississippi, beginning at a point on Front Street, which is the N. E. corner of lot No. 168 of the First Ward, and running thence S. 42 degrees West 206.8 feet, more or less to the line of lot No. 172 thence along Northern line of said lot 172 on a course N. 70 degrees W. 25 feet; thence in a distance of 10 feet, from place of beginning of lot here conveyed; thence southeasterly along said southern line of Front Street, 10 ft. to the place of beginning being a part of lot 168 of the First Ward of the City of Bay St. Louis as per the Drake map of said city, filed in the office of the Chancery Clerk of Hancock County on May 1, 1923.

Also the Southern 10 ft. of lot 158 adjoining lot 170, lying between front street and the waters edge, as per the same map and Ward above referred to.

2. CHANCELLOR RUSSELL OF LOCAL DISTRICT IS APPRECIATIVE

Says So In a Letter to the Electorate of Eighth Chancery Court District

Judge D. M. Russell has addressed a letter to the electorate of the eighth Chancery Court district, dated at Gulfport, August 3, 1934, which he signs, "Most Gratefully, D. M. Russell."

His letter follows:

"The State Democratic Executive Committee, as you are advised through the press, convened at the state capital on July 31st and preceded in accordance with the primary election law to declare the nomination of candidates for state district offices who had no announced opposition within thirty days of the first primary, August 28th. Having no opposition, I was accordingly declared the nominee for Chancellor of the Eighth District.

"Availing myself of the facilities of the press of the district, I desire now to give expression to my very genuine appreciation of the honor conferred on me by my constituency in thus honoring me the second time with a nomination without opposition as your chancellor. If this nomination shall be confirmed in the November election it shall be my definite and sustained ambition and endeavor to render such service during the ensuing term of the chancellorship as will justify the confidence expressed by my constituency.

"I shall assume that propriety will permit me to suggest that during the nearly six years of my administration of the functions of this office I have devoted my entire time and energies to the manifold responsibilities incident to the chancellorship of this large and busy district. I have held every term of court in each of the eight counties according to schedule. When not engaged in court terms I have been almost constantly engaged in disposing of matters in vacation. In short, it has been my fixed and steady purpose to be available and helpful as possible at all times.

In this connection I take occasion to make grateful acknowledgment of the hearty co-operation of the bar, the court officials and the interested public which has contributed so largely to whatever has been accomplished in the orderly dispatch of the business of the court and the maintenance of its dignity and integrity before the public. May I add, too, a fact, known best to the bench and bar, that with relatively few exceptions, cases appealed from my decisions have been affirmed by the Supreme Court.

Death of Charles Boh, Son of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Boh

The passing away of Charles Boh, 9-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Boh, and grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Breath, on Friday morning of last week at 4 A. M., in New Orleans, was an occasion for universal sorrow.

The deceased was recently operated on for mastoid, successful until complications set in and the young patient grew worse. Failing to rally after the best medical attention possible had been administered, he declined rapidly until his soul left its tenement of clay and taken heavenly flight.

The remains were conveyed overland from New Orleans and funeral took place from the church of Our Lady of the Gulf, burial in the family plot at the cemetery, many friends attending the final rites.

Mr. and Mrs. Boh and other members of the family have the sympathy of the community in their bereavement. They will find consolation in the words of the Master who said, suffer little children to come unto Me.

Circuit Court Adjourned

The following was taken from the Daily Herald of August 7, 1934, and shows the successful closing of a long drawn out term of the Circuit Court over which Judge Walter White presided:

There has just closed a notable term of the Circuit Court of Harrison county, notable for the amount of business disposed of and the quickness with which it was done in spite of the hot weather that has prevailed. The records show that the court was in session four weeks and two days, twenty-six days in all. Not an hour was unnecessarily lost during the whole time. The records show that thirty-six cases were disposed of by jury verdicts, on an average of more than one jury case a day. In seventeen of these cases, the jury verdict was for the plaintiff and in nineteen cases the verdict was for the defendant. Twenty-two cases were compromised, or were dismissed for other reasons, and the remainder of the docket was cleared by appropriate orders. It was necessary to extend the term beyond the regular days required by law, but this was done in order to clear the docket and Judge White remained steadily at work until this was completely accomplished. It had been doubted whether a long term of Circuit Court in this county in the middle of the summer, as provided by the last legislature, would be wise because of the difficulty of doing this hard and long drawn out work in the extreme heat, but the success of the present term has proved that it can be done and done well.

NECAISE — KOENENN

Mrs. Louis Necaize announces the marriage of her daughter, Effie, to Mr. Albert Koenenn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emile Koenenn. The wedding was quietly solemnized Saturday at 7 P. M., at Kiln, Mississippi. Following the ceremony the happy couple left by motor for a visit to New Orleans, Louisiana, and on their return will make their home with the bride's parents in Dedaux.

ARRIVAL

Born to Mr. and Mrs. David Middleton, a fine baby girl, weighing 9½ pounds. The little lady arrived Sunday, August 5th at 3 A. M. Both mother and little Miss Geraldine are doing nicely.
